How to Use This Planner

One plan on 16 pages: list every debt, pick a payoff order, then log every payment until the balance hits zero.

Your plan in 6 steps

1. List every debt on page 3 with its balance, interest rate (APR) and minimum payment.
2. Read the snowball vs avalanche example on page 4 and choose the method that suits you.
3. Write your payoff order on page 5 (snowball) or page 6 (avalanche).
4. Use page 7 to find a monthly extra payment, even $25 makes a difference.
5. Pay every minimum, put all the extra on debt #1, and log it on the quarterly pages 8 to 11.
6. Colour in the progress bars and the 100-square tracker as each balance drops.

Snowball or avalanche?

Snowball: pay off the smallest balance first. You clear a whole debt fast, and that early win keeps many people going.

Avalanche: pay off the highest interest rate first. You pay the least interest overall, but the first win can take longer.

Either way: keep paying every minimum. When a debt is gone, roll its whole payment onto the next debt on your list.

Printing tips

- Print at 100% on US Letter, or choose 'fit to page' for A4. Reprint the log pages for 2028.
- Use pencil for balances so you can update them as they change.

Words to know

WORD	WHAT IT MEANS
Balance	What you still owe on a debt today.
APR	The yearly interest rate. A higher APR costs you more each month.
Minimum payment	The smallest amount the lender accepts each month.
Extra payment	Money on top of all minimums. It all goes to debt #1.
Rolled-in payment	When a debt is paid off, its old payment moves to the next debt.

NOTE

This planner is an organizing tool, not financial advice. Check exact balances, rates and payoff amounts with each lender.

My Debt List

Write down every debt you owe today. Seeing it all on one page is step one.

DEBT	LENDER	BALANCE	APR	MIN PAY	DUE DAY

Snowball vs Avalanche: An Example

Four sample debts, the same $641 each month ($441 of minimums plus $200 extra). Example only.

SAMPLE DEBT	BALANCE	APR	MINIMUM
Medical bill	$450	0%	$50
Credit card	$3,200	27.99%	$96
Personal loan	$2,100	11.5%	$85
Car loan	$8,400	6.9%	$210

SNOWBALL: SMALLEST BALANCE FIRST

1. Medical bill
2. Personal loan
3. Credit card
4. Car loan

First debt gone: month 2

Debt-free: month 25

Interest paid: $1,814.29

AVALANCHE: HIGHEST APR FIRST

1. Credit card
2. Personal loan
3. Car loan
4. Medical bill

First debt gone: month 9

Debt-free: month 25

Interest paid: $1,552.91

What the example shows

Avalanche saved $261.38 in interest here. Snowball cleared the first debt 7 months sooner. Both finished in month 25. The best method is the one you will stick with.
